THE INTERESTS OF NEVADA IN THE FORTY-FIFTH CONGRESS

Legislation Affecting Our State—An Interview With Our Congressman.

(Reno Leader, July 12th.)

Since the return of Hon. Thomas Wren, M. C., from Washington, no available opportunity has presented itself, until to-day, for a member of the Leader staff to converse with him and obtain his views on the interests of our State, affected by the Forty-fifth Congress. We found Mr. Wren in his office, ready and willing to undergo the interviewing process. After a brief exchange of salutations, we plunged at once into the midst of the subject. Mr. Wren speaks with all the force and directness which his appearance and his ordinary intercourse with his fellow-townsmen has rendered so familiar to us all. We prefer to let him tell the story of his participation in passing events in his own language:

THE SILVER BILL.

The first and most important measure passed during the session of Congress just closed was, of course, the bill remonetizing silver. The bill is not all that the friends desired, but it was the best that could be passed and will doubtless be amended at the next session of Congress so as to place the coinage of silver on an equality with gold. The enemies of remonetization published before the passage of the bill that it would ruin our credit abroad; that our bonds would fall from eight to ten per cent. in the markets of the world; that all of the gold would be drawn out of the United States; that the price of gold would rise and the price of currency and silver fall, and other evils, too numerous to mention, overtake the country. On the other hand, the "silver men" contended that our credit abroad would not be injured by the passage of the bill, that the price of gold would fall; that it would not be driven from the country, that the silver dollar would be at par with gold and the greenback nearly at par. Senator Jones, the great leader of the remonetization movement, was especially emphatic in arguing the latter views, and results have completely verified their correctness. Immediately after the passage of the bill our bonds rose in Europe and at home. The price of gold fell. The silver dollar has been at par with gold from the time the first dollar was coined until the present, and greenbacks have been practically at par nearly ever since. Owing to the small quantity of silver coined under the bill up to the present time, and the very remarkable action of the Secretary of the Treasury, the value of silver bullion has remained at about its price at the time the bill passed, but the drain of silver to India and China and the demand for coinage at home, to say nothing of a probable resumption of silver coinage in France and other European States, will, within a year, restore silver bullion to its price at the time it was demonetized by this country.

TIMBER BILLS.

Next in importance to this State were the timber bills passed. The one providing for the sale of non-timber lands, the other authorizing our citizens to cut timber for mining and agricultural purposes upon the mineral-bearing timber lands. As the law stood before the passage of these bills our citizens were liable to be prosecuted, fined and imprisoned for cutting timber on the public lands in this State. Most of the timber lands are mineral bearing and reserved from sale, except as mining claims. Had the law as it stood been enforced, mining in the middle and eastern parts of the State would have been brought to a standstill. The danger seemed imminent from the course of the Secretary of the Interior in some of the mining States and Territories. Wood and timber taken from the public lands was seized under his direction in Montana and California, and prosecutions were commenced against the parties cutting it. The bill, introduced by myself, granting this State lands for school purposes in lieu of those already granted but unavailable, was reported favorably, with amendments, by the Committee on Public Lands, and will pass at the next session, I have no doubt.

The usual appropriation was made for our Mint, and something additional for new boilers and boiler house.

RAILROAD LEGISLATION.

A bill, very stringent in its provisions, was passed to compel the Union and Central Pacific Railroad Companies to create a sinking fund to pay off their first-mortgage bonds and save the Government from loss for advances made.

FREIGHTS AND FARES.

No bill was passed to regulate freights or fares on those roads, but a bill creating and appointing three commissioners for the purpose of regulating freights and fares on all roads subsidized by the Government, was introduced by Mr. Rice, of Massachusetts, and discussed, and one was reported by Mr. Reagan, of Texas, Chairman of the Committee on Commerce, embracing every railroad in the United States running in more than one State, and very full and sweeping in the reforms proposed against excessive charges and discrimination. This was discussed at considerable length, excited a great deal of interest and goes over to the next session. The Texas Pacific, or "Tom Scott's road," so called, did not come up so as to give a fair test of its strength in any form, but a competing road is generally favored.

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

The tariff question is one of greater importance to this State than many of our people suppose. The Wood bill, so called, was a monstrosity and not the fate it deserved. Its author started out with the proposition that a tariff should be for revenue only and not for protection, except such as might be accidentally afforded in raising revenue. Yet it raised the duties, already high, on sugar and rice products, almost exclusively of the South. It lowered the duty on copper to a point that would have ruined the copper interests of Michigan and strangled the infant copper mining of this State, destined to be of considerable importance in the future, if properly fostered, and left the tariff on lead, largely a product of Missouri, untouched.

The tariff on wool was placed so low that the price of the qualities produced in this State would have been reduced one half. The tariff on other metals, such as antimony, was reduced to a point that would have made the opening of mines in this State in the future an impossibility. But these are only some of the milder features of the bill. Its effect, if it had passed, would have been to utterly ruin many branches of manufactures, particularly in New England, towards which section a good deal of malice was shown by the Democratic side of the House during the session.

THE NEXT HOUSE.

The complexion of the next House is very uncertain. If a fair election were possible in the South it would unquestionably be Republican. At least twenty Congressional districts in that section are overwhelmingly Republican, but it is generally believed amongst those best informed that the bulldozing element of the Democratic party in the South will not permit the Republicans to vote. Should this prove true, the contest for supremacy in the House will be very close. The Democrats have gerrymandered both Ohio and Missouri in the interests of their party, and will probably secure an additional representation from those States. On the other hand the course of the Democratic majority in the House, especially the raising of the Potter Committee, has consolidated the Republican party, alarmed the independent voters of the North, and in many cases moderate and conservative Democrats, and made a large gain of Republican members in the North a certainty.

THE CHINESE.

A good deal of interest was manifested during the session, on the Republican side of the House, relative to the Chinese question, and from expressions of opinion I heard, particularly among the New England members, from whom we expected the most opposition. I have very little doubt that most Republicans will vote to restrict Chinese immigration, and from expressions I heard on the Democratic side, that the bill reported for that purpose will pass the House easy next Winter.

A movement was made during the session last Winter, before the Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures, to secure a report in favor of discontinuing the coinage of trade dollars, probably for the purpose of bearing silver bullion. It was easily defeated in committee by a fair and full presentation of the merits relative to its coinage and of its use in China.

We were assigned a lot of ladies' linen suits to be sold 50 cents on the dollar; also an invoice of Madame De Foy's corsets and the finest light pink and blue, fast colors, ladies' hose.

CYPRUS.

England having gained possession of this important key to the route to her East Indian possessions, upon her agreeing to protect Turkey's interests in Asia, a brief history of the island will be interesting reading:

It is situated in the northeast corner of the Mediterranean, and about 44 miles from the coast of Syria. It is 140 miles long and 50 broad at the widest point, containing an area of 3,678 square miles. Its present population is estimated at 200,000, a large portion of whom are Greeks. The interior of the island is traversed by a range of mountains, the highest point of which rises 7,000 feet above sea level. These mountains are covered with vast forests of timber. The soil is generally fertile, but not well irrigated. The staple products are cotton, wheat, tobacco, silk, wine and fruit. Lexicographers say that perhaps no country in the world has changed masters so many times, or holds within its bosom the relic of so many civilizations. In ancient times Cyprus was devoted to worship of Aphrodite or Venus, who was fabled to have risen from the sea. Cyprus was conquered by the Phoenicians 1100 B. C., and in turn came into the possession of the Assyrians, Egyptians, Persians, Romans, Saracens, the Crusaders, Venetians, until finally acquired by the Turks, in 1573, who have constantly held it until the present. Cyprus has been an interesting field of archaeologists, as beneath its soil is the tomb of different civilizations found in the buried cities, containing vast quantities of marbles, coins, medals, idols, lamps, objects in glass, terra cotta, statues, and articles of domestic life. It was only during the present century that the Turkish government has permitted extensive researches among these ancient ruins; and it is but recently that the most interesting and valuable discoveries have been made by the American Consul at Cyprus, Gen. di Cesnola, who commenced his extensive explorations in 1870. The collection made by him is the most valuable of all the antiquities before discovered in the island, consisting of rings, necklaces, beads, buttons, spoons, etc., many of them gold and wrought with great skill in execution and design. Over the grave of these buried cities, with their entombed warriors, whose names and deeds are lost in the mists of centuries, will England keep living watch to check the aggressors of the nations who yet see in Cyprus and other lands where civilization first beheld the dawn, inviting fields to possess.

A COMING EVENT.

Not least among the interesting events of the coming month of July will be the assembling of an International Conference of the Jewish people in Paris. It is expected that delegates will be in attendance from every part of the globe. Among the matters which will occupy the attention of the Conference are: The condition of the Jewish residents of the Danubian principalities and of Russia, Morocco, and Persia; the best means for securing industrial and educational advantages for the Jews of Jerusalem; the adoption of measures for the promotion of Hebrew education and for the advancement of Hebrew literature. Another important subject to be considered is a proposition to convene a synod for the purpose of inquiry into the condition of modern Judaism and the authoritative exposition of Jewish ecclesiastical law. It will be remembered that within the past few years two synods have been held, avowedly for this purpose, one at Leipzig, attended chiefly by European Jews, and the other at Philadelphia, attended exclusively by American Jews. The proposition to be considered at the coming Conference is to call a synod which shall represent the Jews all over the world.—S. F. Call.

S. F. HOOLE'S ADDRESS TO THE GLENDALE WORKINGMEN.

Fellow Workingmen of Glendale: We have met to-night to discuss questions of far greater importance than ever were presented to the American people; questions in which is involved, not only the perpetuity of popular constitutional government, but the degradation, misery and final exile of the workingmen of our country, for is it not true that upon the industry, intelligence, virtue and prosperity of the workingmen of the nation entirely depends upon the success of popular government; yes, it is upon these prerequisites alone rests the perpetuity of this the grandest political fabric that has ever existed, and is it not true that any policy pursued or blow struck, tending to its nature to degrade labor and create general poverty, with its accompanying miseries in the working or producing class of our people, is sapping the foundation of the republic, destroying the keystone of the arch of our liberties? Is not the introduction of Chinese labor sapping this? I assert that it is, and your knowledge of the facts will sustain me. I will briefly give you a statement of this evil: In 1862 there were 73,000 Chinamen on this coast, Congress incorporated the contract with the Pacific Railroad Co., giving them a subsidy of $16,000 per mile for that portion of their road on the plains, $32,000 per mile for the next more difficult portion, and $48,000 per mile for the mountainous portion of their road, making a grand total of $25,835,120—money enough to build their road, and value it as assessed, two of them. In addition they gave them 9,440,000 acres of land, or 15,730 square miles—a territory half as large as the State of Rhode Island. Such princely generosity on the part of the Government is without a parallel, in fact it was simply robbing the Treasury in the hour of her direst need, and the people and their posterity of their inheritance—the public lands. But what was the first act of this newly created corporation? They wanted cheaper labor, and the importation of Chinamen was pressed to supply that want, until to day we have over 250,000 amongst us. This was the free, generous gift of a few individuals made millions of dollars and the largest land proprietors in the world; by our legislative thieves at Washington, as shown by the Credit Mobilier and other investigations.

The Chinamen built the railroads and still repair them, while thousands of our working men could get no work and actually suffered for bread. In all the annals of wrong such an outrage under such circumstances is unheard of. This great wrong does not stop simply with the importation and employing of the Chinamen, but its results are seen upon every hand, most forcibly, in the 150,000 idle men and women in Nevada and California, thousands upon thousands of whom are suffering from want. Neither does this great wrong stop here: Its results are seen in the prostration of trade, the absolute poverty of all the people and the great scarcity of money, the bankruptcy of our merchants and business men and all business done on a credit basis. Why can we have no cash trade? We have good farms and improvements in the country, in town we have substantial stores, neat cottages and comfortable homes. Our farms yield plentifully and yet we have hard times and no money. The comfortable homes are getting ill supplied with life's necessities, and we ask, where will it stop? What is the cause? I will tell you. It is to be found only in this Chinese curse scattered broadcast over the land. Over 250,000 Chinamen among us, the free gift of the capital of the Pacific Coast, or a corporation made rich by our servants, treacherously, at Washington; 250,000 Chinamen; we will average them from 1862 to the present time at 100,000. This is a very small average. They have averaged during these eighteen years an average of one dollar a day each; their expenses have not exceeded 25 cents per day, leaving a profit of 75 cents per day, making a total of $75,000 per day, $2,250,000 per month, and $27,000,000 per year, and a total for the eighteen years of $495,000,000 saved by the Chinamen and sent back to China. Four hundred and eighty-five million dollars taken from the circulating medium of the country and sent to China! Think for a moment, and each one for himself answer, what would have been our financial situation to-day had this money remained with us and been scattered through all the factories of trade. It is too plain for argument. It is true as I have stated the case; I tell you it is too true. There is more to add; the money sent away will far exceed these figures. You will remember the 25 cents per day expenses of living is nearly every dollar sent to China, for they live upon rice and fish. It is true they occasionally have a little pork or chicken feast, but their staple living is chop sticks and rice. The evil however is far from resting here. These 250,000 Chinamen supercede the labor of 150,000 workingmen and women of our own race. I call your special attention to this fact and ask each of you, were our workingmen and women employed, would they not do a third more work than the Chinamen, and should they not receive more pay? Would they not surround themselves with comfortable homes and happy families? Would they not become a part and parcel of the contributors of the nation's material progress, and the prosperity of every community in the country wherein they were employed? Would they not keep every dollar of their earnings with us, and would the result not be, instead of having $27,000,000 a year sent to China, the average amount sent for eighteen years would not have been $5,850,000 a month. The earnings of these working men and women, scattered all through the ramifications of trade to remain permanently a circulating medium in the country, would it not result in saving trade, and you have a ready market and cash sales for your crops and stock? Is this not the fair logical conclusion? Is it not from this cause, more than all others combined, we have the present depression in trade? In fact is it not the real cause? I submit it to your candid consideration, weigh it well in all its bearings. Like you I am deeply interested in solving this problem. My every hope in life is at stake, and I pray God to guide us aright, and imbue us with a just sense of the obligations we owe to our country and to each other, in forming conclusions. Some may say we are not afflicted with the curse as they are in California. To such I will say, we have over 20,000 Chinamen in our State, and still they come. They dig our canals and ditches, they build and repair our railroads, they do our washing, wait on table, nurse our children; they are porters and general jobbers; they clean our houses and make our gardens; they raise our vegetables, in fact we find them almost everywhere, in every industry pursued in the State, except and only in the mechanic's and miner's department; they take the place of 15,000 white men and women; they send from the State every month $450,000 and every year the enormous sum of $5,400,000. Who is there so foolishly as to say that if this money remained with us, and this Chinese labor was replaced by our workingmen and women it would not create a trade that is now entirely lost to us; that business would not revive and money be plentiful. To such I say the proposition is too absurd to admit of a moment's consideration. It will not bear the light of reason, and nothing but stern, bitter experience will convince you. Go, drink to the dregs of this bitter cup, and when year after year your crops remain unsold, and no market for your stock, and the Sheriff sells your beautiful farm; hay, stock, and everything you have, and you are left penniless, with a loving wife and family upon your hands, not knowing where to look for work to obtain bread to eat, your eyes will be opened to the fact that the Chinamen are the cause, and here let me say I have no ill feeling towards the Chinaman; his lot, like ours, is cast upon a troubled sea; with him it is a fight for rice and a miserable existence at best; with us it is a fight for popular constitutional government; for the elevation of our children, morally and socially; a fight for our homes and firesides; a fight for the workingmen's right, to work and have fair wages for fair labor, and enjoy the comforts of American civilization. There is but one remedy: "The Chinese must go." In this fight we have too much at stake, we dare not lose, and though I pity and sympathize with the Chinamen, upon looking around me and recognizing the position of our working men and women, and of every business man throughout the State whose bankruptcy is but a question of time, and see the misery and deplorable results entailed by his presence, I am forced to exclaim "The Chinese must go." How to make him go is the question for our consideration. First resolve that you will not employ Chinese labor, or use the products of such labor, and the work is done. John will have to leave. To make it doubly sure elect a Workingman's legislative ticket and Judges of the Supreme Court, men who believe in the reserved rights of the State to legislate upon all matters of municipal interest; elect a Governor, Congressman and Senator to the United States Senate; let Congress amend or abrogate the Burlingame Treaty; the Legislature pass prohibitory laws, which in their nature will drive the Chinamen from us; call a Constitutional Convention and remodel the charter of our liberties; provide for the complete protection of workingmen's interest; check monopolies and land grabbers; establish rates of fares and freights on all roads delivering goods or passengers in this State; make discrimination in rates a felony; have all property taxed at its actual cash value; unimproved lands at the same rate as adjoining improved lands; make malfeasance in office an unpardonable crime; place a capitation of $100 per head upon every Chinamen coming into the State and a tax of $100 per year for all in the State, and you will find the Chinamen will go and come back no more. Misery and want will vanish from the land, and our workingmen will enjoy all the comforts of life, manufactures will spring up like magic and the busy hum of industry will be heard upon all sides and prosperity in all the walks of life will reign throughout the State. I will now call your attention to the situation of the working men and women of California. Their mills, workshops and factories overrun with work and yet nothing for their workingmen to do. Over one hundred thousand men and women ready and willing to work, and thousands of them actually starving to death in the midst of plenty. What is the cause? Go look at your huge woolen mill; its massive proportions cover acres of ground, and it looms heavenward three full stories from cellar to dome; it swarms with Chinamen; not a white man or woman, except the foreman and clerk. Go to your boot and shoe factory; the cigar factory, the dingy shop used by the Chinese manufacturers themselves; go to the hotels and restaurants; go to the humble residence and the princely mansion, to the banks and the stores, in all of them you find the inevitable Chinamen employed—it is nothing but Chinamen. They make our woolen goods and clothing, our boots and shoes, our cigars; they do our washing and working; from the kitchen to the dining room and nursery, we find them, in fact there is not a single industry in California, except the foundry, they have not monopolized; the mines are filled with them, and towns that a few years since supported thousands of our miners are to-day occupied entirely by Chinamen, wherever you go it is Chinamen; it is Chinamen everywhere; is it any wonder then that the workingmen of California are idle; that they suffer for the common necessities of life; that their wives and daughters are driven to lives of infamy to get bread; that their sons are driven to crime. No, it is the only certain result of the circumstances surrounding them. Such obedience to the law as we see expressed by the workingmen of California is unexampled in the history of nations; suffering every conceivable wrong, yet obedient to the law, they deserve the admiration of not only the workingmen, but of all classes and conditions of our people. I ask how long it will be before Chinamen have complete control of all industries of our State. Twenty thousand now, and still they come and will continue to do so until our workingmen are driven from the soil.

A few words to the ladies and I will close, as I have already occupied more time than was allotted me. None are so much interested as you in the success of this Workingman's movement. Should this evil continue to increase for the next five years as at the present time, our State will then be covered with them and our workingmen driven away, because they cannot live as Chinamen, who have no homes, no wives, no children, no interest in the Government; I ask you from whence then will come the support of yourselves and families, and state as an incontrovertible fact that the success of all trade depends entirely upon the labor of our workingmen. Drive them away and how can your husbands support you; of what use is your farm or your stock? Chinamen have no use for them. Must it not result in leaving you homeless? To this end it will surely come. It is only a question of time, and did time permit I would like to touch upon the moral aspect of this question, but I will only say it is a monster of most hideous mien, and when we look at our boys and girls coming in contact with it, with good cause we tremble for their future, for vice and immorality are their governing characteristics. Ladies, I beg of you to examine well this question in all its bearings, satisfy yourselves of the great danger to each of you losing that social happiness and prosperity you now enjoy; of sacrificing what is dearer than life, your children, upon this Mongolian altar of vice and crime. Once aroused to its danger you can and will make the employment of Chinamen by your brothers, husbands and friends a shame and disgrace, and the Chinaman will have to go.

Thanking you for your kind attention I will close by again asking each of you to carefully examine the questions presented and the conclusions drawn in all their varied bearings. Let each judge for himself and be responsible for his individual action, but, remember, Democrats and Republicans are alike interested, and party ties must be dissolved, to succeed.

One of the discoveries made by the latest Arctic explorers is that the length of the polar night is 142 days. Nice place, this, to walk home with a girl New Year's eve, and find that the old people have looked up the house and gone to watch meeting and won't be home till after midnight.
